Guido CECCHERINI
Gianni GILIOLI
Alessandro PORTALURI
- EFSA:
PLANTS Unit: Sara TRAMONTINI

I. Welcome and apologies for absence

EFSA welcomed the participants.

II. Adoption of agenda

The agenda was adopted without changes.

III. Declarations of Interest of Working Groups members

In accordance with EFSA's Policy on Independence¹ and the Decision of the Executive Director on Competing Interest Management², EFSA screened the Annual Declarations of Interest filled out by the Working Group members invited to the present meeting. No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

This final sequence of meetings was dedicated to the finalisation of the guidance document on the calculator for assessing the impact on ecosystem services titled "EFSA methodology for assessing the impact of plant pests to ecosystem services". The experts revised the structure and content of the file in order to harmonise and integrate it with the recently published methodology for assessing candidate priority pests (EFSA et al., 2025¹). Annexes were provided in order to deeply describe specific aspects of the process and provide examples on its application.

The content was then reviewed by all the working group members who could comment and amend the text.

I. Welcome and apologies for absence

EFSA welcomed the participants. Apologies were received from Rene ESCHEN on days 2 and 3.

II. Adoption of agenda

The agenda was adopted without changes.

III. Declarations of Interest of Working Groups members

In accordance with EFSA's Policy on Independence¹ and the Decision of the Executive Director on Competing Interest Management², EFSA screened the Annual Declarations of Interest filled out by the Working Group members invited to the present meeting. No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

This set of meetings was dedicated to the finalisation of the analysis performed under the environment impact domain to be included in the I2P2.

The matrix calculator was run for all those pests submitted to the analysis. The geospatial data on ecosystem areas and hosts distribution were overlapped with the area of potential establishment of the pest in order to weight the estimated reduction in ecosystem service flow.

All the other indicators were also revised and final results checked for consistency.

All the results were then included in the datasheets shared with the JRC for their analysis.

The agenda was adopted without changes.

III. Declarations of Interest of Working Groups members

In accordance with EFSA's Policy on Independence¹ and the Decision of the Executive Director on Competing Interest Management², EFSA screened the Annual Declarations of Interest filled out by the Working Group members invited to the present meeting. No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

During the meeting the experts were invited to complete the matrix on reduction in ecosystem services flow for the following pests: Arrhenodes minutus, Choristoneura fumiferana, Diabrotica undecimpunctata howardi, Phymatotrichopsis omnivora, Pissodes sp., Polygraphus proximus. After analysis of available evidence, A. minutus was excluded from the assessment because the feeding activity of larvae burrowing into the xylem has not proven to be substantially detrimental to the host vitality and therefore is not expected to cause significant impact on the ecosystem traits.

No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

This set of meetings was dedicated to the resolution of a series of methodological aspects involving both the general process and method applied to the production of data under the Priority Pests mandate. With this scope, a series of physical meetings was set in order to review and complete the guidance document "Report on the methodology applied by EFSA to provide a quantitative assessment of pest-related criteria required to rank candidate priority pests as defined by Regulation (EU) 2016/2031".

Another set of occasions was dedicated to the other methodological framework for assessing the environmental impact: this additional output will have a broader scope, allowing the provision for a methodology applicable to subjects also outside the specific mandate of priority pests.

A third type of meetings was set in order for the working group members to prepare material and tasks to be in place for next meeting working group event, when a number of hearing experts will join the working group at EFSA premises to test the new methodology on impact on ecosystem services.

I. Welcome and apologies for absence

EFSA welcomed the participants.

II. Adoption of agenda

The agenda was adopted without changes.

III. Declarations of Interest of Working Groups members

In accordance with EFSA's Policy on Independence¹ and the Decision of the Executive Director on Competing Interest Management², EFSA screened the Annual Declarations of Interest filled out by the Working Group members invited to the present meeting. No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

The participants reviewed the available evidence provided in the dossiers on Bursaphelenchus xylophilus, Bretziella fagacearum and Pseudocercospora pini-densiflorae. Further literature and direct experience were shared.

I. Welcome and apologies for absence

EFSA welcomed the participants.

II. Adoption of agenda

The agenda was adopted without changes.

III. Declarations of Interest of Working Groups members

In accordance with EFSA's Policy on Independence¹ and the Decision of the Executive Director on Competing Interest Management², EFSA screened the Annual Declarations of Interest filled out by the Working Group members invited to the present meeting. No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

The first two days of meeting took place at EFSA premises, with the main scope of proceeding with the methodological framework and corresponding supporting document. Further ad hoc discussion sessions were organised in order to solve a number of aspects related to the calculation of the overall impact on ecosystem services and biodiversity. The definition of the structural biodiversity indicator was given and revised on Day 3 with the whole group of experts. Furthermore, during Day 3 Alessandro Portaluri presented the last version of the matrix to the group, describing theoretical framework, further improvements and new features.

During Day 4 a meeting with the JRC group was handled in order to present the finalisation of the indicators for the Environmental Domain of the I2P2.

EFSA welcomed the participants. Apologies were received from Maria Luisa PARACCHINI and Bethan PURSE for both days and from Alessandro PORTALURI for the second day.

II. Adoption of agenda

The agenda was adopted without changes.

III. Declarations of Interest of Working Groups members

In accordance with EFSA's Policy on Independence¹ and the Decision of the Executive Director on Competing Interest Management², EFSA screened the Annual Declarations of Interest filled out by the Working Group members invited to the present meeting. No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

During the first day the experts assessed the potential impact of Popillia japonica in the generator column and in some additional cells that could also work as generator cells in certain circumstances. The need to move from the concept of generator column to that of generator cells was evaluated.

During the second day the methodological document was reviewed by participants and points requiring improvement or clarifications were highlighted. A new version of the text will be made available to the group by the second part of February.

No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

The Working Group meeting aimed to conduct an expert knowledge elicitation (EKE) on the potential spread and impact of the union quarantine pest Grapevine flavescence dorée, in order to prepare a EFSA Pest report to support ranking of EU candidate priority pests.

¹ As defined in Article 17 of the Decision of the Executive Director concerning the selection of members of the Scientific Committee, the Scientific Panels, and the selection of external experts to assist EFSA with its scientific work: <http://www.efsa.europa.eu/en/keydocs/docs/expertselection.pdf>

In accordance with EFSA's Policy on Independence¹ and the Decision of the Executive Director on Competing Interest Management², EFSA screened the Annual Declarations of Interest filled out by the Working Group members invited to the present meeting. No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

The new matrix structure and functionality was discussed with Alessandro Portaluri, joining the working group with the scope to develop the appropriate tool to the quantitative assessment of impact on ecosystem services caused by an invasive plant pest. The theoretical framework was shared with the working group members and the implementation discussed.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

After having shared the new methodology to the JRC and DG SANTE representatives, on the 13th of April, and having received a preliminary positive feedback, the working group is now required to finalise the methodological framework and test it on a series of case studies.

The main point of discussion for the meeting at day 1 was the definition of the calculation system. Two potential levels of resolution were considered:

- Quantify the credible range of the expected change in the average flux of ecosystem services
- Identify those ecosystem services that are affected by the pest in the relevant ecosystems

² http://www.efsa.europa.eu/sites/default/files/corporate_publications/files/competing_interest_management_17.pdf

The working group considered pros and cons of the two alternatives and will check feasibility towards dedicated case studies.

The working group members endorsed the new proposals and agreed on its presentation to JRC and DG SANTE representatives during next meeting organised by EFSA on 15th of May 2023. During day 2 (when only the external expert Gianni Gilioli participated) further advancements were made in the preparation of the methodological framework and a new draft was finalised for circulation to the other experts.

Further meetings are planned in order to apply the methodology on different pests.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

An advanced version of the methodology including the new indicators on biodiversity losses was presented and discussed among participants,.

The experts reviewed also the reference table on the ecosystem services connected with CICES V5.1 framework.

The working group members endorsed the new version and agreed on its presentation to JRC and DG SANTE representatives during next meeting organised by EFSA on 13 April 2023.

Based on the received feedbacks, the working group will decide how to develop further the approach and the amount of resources to be dedicated to the activity.

No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting.

IV. Scientific topic(s) for discussion

During Day 1 the experts reviewed the approach applied during the previous mandate on priority pests. Specific requirements linked to the resources and time constraints were highlighted, underlying the importance of developing a methodology consistent and integrated with what already put in place by the JRC during the previous mandate.

² http://www.efsa.europa.eu/sites/default/files/corporate_publications/files/competing_interest_management_17.pdf

During Day 2 the new approach and concepts were integrated in a matrix considering the combination of the ecosystem services and different ecosystems, in line with already recognized frameworks.

Between Day 2 and Day 3 the method was tested on the two regulated priority pests Anoplophora chinensis and Spodoptera frugiperda. Strengths and shortcomings were identified and discussed by the group.

At the end of the meeting, tasks were distributed among participants in order to finalize the methodological framework to be presented to the JRC.

3. Declarations of Interest of Working Groups members

In accordance with EFSA's Policy on Independence⁴ and the Decision of the Executive Director on Competing Interest Management⁵, EFSA screened the Annual Declarations of Interest filled out by the Working Group members invited to the present meeting. No Conflicts of Interest related to the issues discussed in this meeting have been identified during the screening process, and no interests were declared orally by the members at the beginning of this meeting.

4. Scientific topics for discussion

4.1. Review of the mandate

The participants reviewed the mandate considering the experience gained during the previous mandate on priority pests (2017-2019).

4.2. TASK A of the mandate

The data extraction of all the hosts of currently regulated Union quarantine pests was presented to the participants: methodology and resulting dataset, already shared with the JRC, were reviewed and discussed.

4.3. TASK B of the mandate

A preliminary overview of the parameters requiring further analysis by EFSA was given: in the coming months EFSA will provide JRC with its proposals for amendments, in particular on spread, time to detection and environmental impact.

4.4. TASK C of the mandate

The last step of the mandate, involving Expert Knowledge Elicitation methodologies (EKE) was discussed, considering in particular

- the contribution expected from the contractor
- climate suitability analysis
- EKE dossier to be applied

5. Any Other Business
