1. Introduction

EFSA Strategy 2027 states the importance of listening to and engaging with stakeholders to deliver its objectives. In particular, stakeholders may engage with EFSA’s domain on Foresight and preparedness participating on horizon scanning and foresight activities so EFSA can stay relevant for policymakers and EU citizens and be prepared for the challenges ahead.

The recently reviewed approach to stakeholder engagement (SEA)\(^1\) enables EFSA to interact with a larger range of stakeholders through a number of permanent and targeted platforms\(^2\). Therefore, through their participation at Thematic discussion groups, stakeholders can engage with EFSA at a technical level defined by the set of interests and the specific knowledge stakeholder communities bring to the various phases of EFSA’s work. Thematic discussion groups act as "learning systems" to discuss and exchange information in specific areas, capitalising on stakeholder knowledge in those domains. These are primarily open to registered stakeholders, although EFSA may also invite non-registered organisations or individuals to participate, based on their competency, expertise and experience, as stipulated in Article 3 of the Decision on the criteria for establishing a list of registered stakeholders and the establishment of the Stakeholder Forum and Stakeholder Bureau\(^3\).

The Stakeholder Discussion Group on Emerging Risks (StaDG-ER) is a Thematic discussion groups that has allowed EFSA to capitalise on stakeholders’ specialist knowledge in the identification of new or emerging issues since 2010. The group was created to improve the exchange of information about emerging risks identification and to enhance communication and dialogue on issues pertaining to emerging risks with stakeholders.

A balance composition of the group is essential as it may determine the scope of the possible emerging issues identified. In order ensure a balanced representation of different views and to be aligned with the new EFSA Stakeholder Engagement Approach (SEA), the composition of the current StaDG-ER shall be revised and renewed for the period 2023-2026.

2. Scope of the Stakeholder Discussion Group on Emerging Risks

The role of stakeholders is essential to increase EFSA’s capacity to anticipate emerging issues.

The StaDG-ER shall be composed of representatives from registered stakeholders in each of the following categories: consumers; environmental/health NGOs and/or advocacy groups; farmers and primary producers; business and food industry; distributors and HORECA (food service industry preparing and serving food and beverages), associations of practitioners working in fields relevant to EFSA’s food safety and public health remit and academia. A given registered stakeholder may have more than one representative in the StaDG-ER.

The themes and topics of each meeting are determined by demands from its registered stakeholders and by the priority areas identified by EFSA through its new Environmental scanning process and related tools. The group will contribute to the identification and characterisation of potential emerging issues of relevance for EFSA.

3. Stakeholders’ involvement

The Discussion Group will be coordinated by the Knowledge, Innovation and Partnership Management Unit (KNOW) with the support of EFSA’s Engagement & External Relations (ENREL) Unit. The costs of taking part in the meetings organised by EFSA which foresee the participation of stakeholders will be borne by each individual stakeholder organisation.

Exceptionally, EFSA may contribute to financing the costs of those organisations that could not otherwise afford to participate. Financial contributions may only be awarded to stakeholder organisations which are non-governmental, non-profit making, independent of industry, commerce and business and have as their primary objectives and activities the promotion and protection of the health and safety of consumers and the environment. Requests for financial support shall be assessed on a case-by-case basis and will need to be properly documented by the requesting organisation.
