

Keep bird flu OUT

PROTECT YOUR BIRDS TODAY

Separate your flock from wild birds

Wild birds can carry diseases. Keep your flock under cover or protected as much as possible.

- Use solid roofs, sealed walls and fencing to house your birds.
- Secure outside areas with netting or wire enclosures.

Don't mix your own birds

Reduce the risk of disease spreading across species.

- Avoid keeping different types of birds - like chickens, ducks and turkeys – together.

Keep your coop clean

Follow some simple hygiene steps to help keep your birds safe. Every time you enter and leave the coop:

- Change or clean your shoes, wear clean clothes.
- Wash your hands or use gloves.

Report anything unusual

Act quickly to help protect yourself and your birds.

- If you spot anything unusual – a decrease in food or water intake, sudden deaths or other signs of disease – isolate any sick birds.
- Immediately contact your veterinarian or local health authorities.
