

Save the date – Risk Assessment Research Assembly (RARA) – Utrecht, 7 February 2018

Utrecht, 7 February 2018

With a view to build a common understanding of the role of public funding for food safety research, EFSA will bring together EU and national research funders, policy/decision makers and leading food safety researchers to discuss the effective level of public funding for risk assessment research.

The Assembly (RARA) will work as a platform to exchange research ideas, which may form part of future calls, and identify collaborators for relevant research projects.

Don't miss out on this important opportunity to gather and share knowledge with key actors. Have your say on future directions in public funding and research in food safety risk assessment, both at national and EU level.

The event will be held in Utrecht, the Netherlands, on 7 February 2018.

On-line registration will open in October 2017 so be sure to save the date already.
